Overview

The US Treasury publishes yields for Treasury Bills (short-term), Treasury Notes (medium-term) and Treasury Bonds (long-term). This data is end-of-day (EOD) with closing values only. Treasury yields move inverse the Treasury prices. Yields rise when Treasury prices fall and yields fall when Treasury prices rise.

All index symbols use INDX for the exchange column (Exch) in the catalog results. Users can preface their search with INDX and then add or subtract other terms to further quantify the search. Searching for “treasury and indx and US and yield” (without quotations) in the symbol catalog would show results that include the US Treasury Yields. Each term following the “and” is required.
